Examiner Education Program

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and Intellectual Property Owners, Inc. are jointly instituting an education program for patent examiners to increase their awareness of industrial technology, particularly in rapidly advancing industrial fields. The program is expected to benefit the patent system and its users by improving the quality of patent examining, resulting, in turn, in the issuance of higher quality patents.

Under the joint program, costing about $350,000 annually, each patent examiner will be given an opportunity to spend up to a week once every three years in visiting commercial and industrial installations which industry makes available for this purpose. The cost of the program will be defrayed by contributions from industry. However, to avoid even the slightest possibility that contributors might influence Patent and Trademark Office decisions in specific applications, the contributors' identities will be kept from patent examiners who visit commercial or industrial facilities, and those who designate examiners for specific trips.

Business concerns interested in making a financial contribution in support of this program should mail contributions to the address below:

Commissioner of Patents
and Trademarks
Box 12
Education Fund Washington, D.C. 20231

Companies interested in making their commercial industrial facilities available for visits by patent examiners under this program are urged to advise the Office by letter, describing briefly the nature of the facilities. The letter should be addressed to:

Commissioner of Patents
and Trademarks
Plant Visits Washington, D.C. 20231

Intellectual Property Owners, Inc. is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the public awareness of the basic social and economic values of a strong system of patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets.

Simulated or Predicted Tests or Examples

In order to provide for uniform practice before the Patent and Trademark Office, the following clarification of current Office practice relating to simulated or predicted tests or examples is being set forth. This notice specifies the Office policy which is currently in effect and is considered to have been in effect in the past in this area. The wording of the MPEP provisions prior to this amendment went further than was intended. The amended sections below spell out more clearly the Office's position from the start.

The following wording will be substituted in revision number 8 for that presently in paragraph D of section 608.01(p) of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure.

MPEP §608.01(p)

"D. Simulated or Predicted Test Results or Prophetic Examples

Simulated or predicted test results and prophetical examples (paper examples) are permitted in patent applications. Working examples correspond to work actually performed and may describe tests which have actually been conducted and results that were achieved. Paper examples describe the manner and process of making an embodiment of the invention which has not actually been conducted. Paper examples should not be represented as work actually done. No results should be represented as actual results unless they have actually been achieved. Paper examples should not be described using the past tense."

The first and last paragraphs of MPEP section 707.07(1) are being deleted.

DONALD J. QUIGG,
Apr. 15, 1982. Deputy Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.
